

Wedding SPARKLE

VAN CLEVE

Sparkle with the "cracked ice" finish on this gown, called Naveah from Matthew Christopher. Featuring delicate lace over a full layer of sequined tulle, your dress will give off a subtle sparkle at every angle. The simplicity of the classic a-line silhouette balances the intricacy of the fabric.

Every bride sparkles. To do it with style, we checked in with DEBORAH VAN CLEVE, of the VAN CLEVE WEDDING PAVILION in Paoli. With over 30 years in women's fashion and ten focused on bridal styling, she's dressed generations of brides. Her selection of gowns includes top designers—Sareh Nouri, Matthew Christopher—yet all styles are customizable so the final product is one-of-a-kind. Like the bride herself.

Deborah says current trends focus on clean lines, lush fabrics and architectural details. Bows are back. Along with plenty of sparkle. Choose a subtle under-layer of sparkly tulle or glitter all over with the "cracked ice" finish of glitter ingrained in or applied to the fabric itself, shown in the gown below.

Other area style-makers added their take on ways to sparkle at your wedding. So many choices!

WALTER J. COOK JEWELER

Dazzle her with an engagement ring she'll never want to take off. This three-stone, cushion cut diamond ring by Precision Set, is set in platinum with 18k yellow gold—perfect for the traditional bride who loves to turn heads.

WILMINGTON COUNTRY STORE

Perfect for guests of a spring wedding, this cool blue, effortless Donna Morgan dress is a perfect fit. Let the dress do the talking with its chic bell sleeves and gorgeous floral details. Complete the look with minimalist jewelry and a pair of heels that pop against the blooms.

THE HICKORY STICK

A woman does not stop glowing when the lights are dimmed. Her sparkle shines through and through from dawn to dusk. Brighton sparklers accent all that with dazzling crystals meant to be worn by day or night.

CHRISTOPHER CHOCOLATES

Personalize your wedding guest favors with Christopher's decadent chocolates. Or pick from candy buffets, trays of chocolates, truffles and chocolate covered pretzels to add that sweet touch to your special day!

MATLACK FLORIST

Add an understated, yet colorful elegance to your ceremony and reception with custom floral arrangements to fit your style. Take inspiration from Matlack's wedding coordinator, Nicole, who featured these gorgeous elevated arrangements of hydrangeas, roses, stock and delphinium at her own wedding.

SUNSET HILL JEWELERS

Vintage inspired designs and working with family heirlooms never go out of style. Work with Sunset Hill to create your ideal design or pick from stunning options in their collection for a one-of-a-kind piece.
